

IPEDS Financial Aid Survey ctcLink Queries for Military and Vet Benefits

The majority of the data needed for the IPEDS Financial Aid Survey is processed and uploaded into the IPEDS system by SBCTC Data Services using the SBCTC Data Warehouse. However, there are a few data points that are not available in the Data Warehouse. These data points are the responsibility of the college IPEDS Keyholder.

The ctcLink Reporting team has developed three queries to assist in obtaining this data.

The following instructions come from Section 2 of the IPEDS Financial Aid Survey instructions.

Section 2. Military Service members and Veteran Students with Benefits General Instructions

What You Will Need

If you are unfamiliar with these educational benefits, a general synopsis of each program is found below.

1. Post-9/11 GI Bill

- Effective August 1, 2009, benefit provides payment of tuition and fees, monthly housing allowance, and books and supplies stipend.
- Tuition and fees are paid directly to the institution on behalf the students; thus, institutions should know which students have Post-9/11 GI Bill benefits and the amount of benefits received at the institution.
- Educational benefits can be transferred to a dependent.
- Program expanded in 2011 to cover non-degree-granting programs, apprenticeships/on-the-job training programs, flight training programs, and training correspondence.
- The Yellow Ribbon program through the Post-9/11 GI Bill is an institutional aid matching program only for tuition and fees for students attending participating institutions.
- For more information, visit the Department of Veteran Affairs, Post-9/11 GI Bill Benefits website http://www.benefits.va.gov/qibill/post911_qibill.asp

2. Department of Defense Tuition Assistance Program (DOD TAP)

- For active duty service members, reservists called to active duty, and their spouses.
- Educational payments cover only tuition and fees and are made directly to the institution.
- GI Bill benefits can be used to supplement costs not covered by this program.
- For more information, visit the Department of Defense Tuition Assistance Program website <https://www.dodmou.com/> and see 38 USC § 36 (2020).

Consult and verify the data with your institutional representative who certifies these benefits. This individual or office may not be in the student financial aid office.

Below is a description of the criteria currently used in the three ctLink queries developed to meet the above reporting requirements. If you need any modifications to the criteria, please submit a ticket to the Data Services ctLink Reporting Team.
